Back To School Shopping

How You Can Save Money On School Supplies This Year!

1. Look for the best possible price

Make sure you keep an eye out for special offers on clothes and supplies. Download mobile apps like Redlaser and Eyeona to track sales and compare prices. Always ask if they offer student discounts.

2. Go for less trendy merchandise

On average, back to school items with logos or pictures of celebrities can cost up to 30 percent more than other purchases. Show your children how they can personalize and decorate plain items to make them just as special!

3. Quality Matters

Make sure your purchases will last the entire school year. Try to stay away from folders and notebooks that have seasonal designs and instead buy basic prints that will stay current. Choose quality items such as backpacks that have a lifetime warranty and notebooks with heavy covers.

4. Get books at a discount

Find the lowest online price by entering a books ISBN at bookscouter.com. You can also rent books at bookrenter.com or swap paperbacks at paperbackswaps.com.

5. Budget carefully & stick to your list!

Try to divide your shopping list into must-haves and nice-to-haves. Don't fill your cart with items from the second column until you have all of your necessities. Try to use cash only! Research shows that shoppers who pay with $10 and $20 bills generally spend 15 percent less than those who use credit cards.
